Holiday in Northern Sweden

The northern part of Sweden is in the Arctic Circle, but it's a popular destination for tourists from across the world. It is the land of glaciers, pine forests, fast-flowing rivers and clear blue lakes. The tourists there usually stay in Kiruna, Sweden's farthest town in the north, it is an excellent spot for exploring the northern area and hunting or fishing.

If you visit Kiruna in summer, you can go hiking in the Abisko National Park. You will enjoy rafting, canoeing and boat trips on the lakes of the park, too. You can also see the midnight sun; the sun shines 24 hours a day from the end of May to the end of July.

In winter, you can watch the colourful Northern Lights in the night sky. The area receives no sunlight for several weeks in December and January, but it isn't very dark. Snow covers the whole area from October to May. This is a perfect time for skiing, riding on dogsleds, snowmobiling and ice climbing. You can go ice skating on the frozen lakes or rivers, too. Kiruna has a snow festival at the last weekend of January. Reindeer races and ice sculpting contests take place in this festival.

Another tourist attraction near Kiruna is the Icehotel in the village of Jukkasjarvi. This hotel is made from snow and ice blocks from the Torne River. It is open from December to April. Then, it melts and the water flows back into the Torne River, so they have to build it every year. All the walls, rooms and beds are made of ice, so you must wrap up when you sleep; the temperature inside is always -5°C .

If you arrange to stay at this hotel, a dogsled will pick you up from the airport. The hotel arranges sightseeing dogsleds. You can also rent a car and drive around, but you must watch out for icy spots and reindeer crossing the road. They often cause crashes.
